

THE WOOD VINTAGE

Diwali 2026 Plan

Turning Navratri into real Diwali sales

A simple, week-by-week plan: what to sell, what to bundle, what discounts to run, who to sell to, how much to spend —
and the decisions we need from you this week.

SECTION 1

The Big Picture

Diwali falls on Sunday, 8 November 2026 — about five weeks from today. Navratri starts in just five days, on Sunday, 11 October, which is too soon to make brand-new products. So the plan has two parts: a quiet "getting ready" phase during Navratri, and the real sales push from Dussehra onwards.

Date	What it means for us
6 - 10 Oct	Get ready: post on social media, line up products, confirm the few decisions below.
11 - 19 Oct Navratri	Soft launch only. We introduce the brand, build trust, and offer an early-bird discount — but we do not promise new stock yet.
20 Oct Dussehra	The real sales push begins. Ads, offers and combo packs go live.
28 Oct	Last date to order ready-made items for guaranteed Diwali delivery anywhere in India.
2 Nov	Last order date for customers in Rajasthan / Delhi NCR (shorter delivery distance).
6 Nov Dhanteras	The single biggest shopping day of the festival. Have your best offer live.
8 Nov Diwali	The festival itself — post greetings, no new selling push.

Important: this delivery date is not yet confirmed

The 28 October / 2 November cutoff is our best estimate based on normal courier times. Before we tell a single customer "order by this date for Diwali delivery", we need the workshop to confirm, in writing, exactly how many finished pieces they can really have ready by then. This is the single most urgent thing to lock down.

SECTION 2

The 10 Best Products to Push This Diwali

Out of a longer list of 50 possible Diwali items, these 10 give the best mix of "people actually want this," "we can really make it in time," and "it looks beautiful in a photo." Ready now means it's already in our shop — no extra work needed, just festive marketing. Can be made means our carpenters already have the skill for it, it just needs to be built. Decision needed means we have to decide this week whether to go ahead with it.

Product	Price	Why it's a good choice
Carved Wooden Mandir (2.5 ft) Decision needed	₹14,999 - ₹16,999	The biggest opportunity on the whole list — solid hand-carved mandirs are hard to find at a fair price anywhere. But it takes 20–25 days to carve, and we've never built one at this size before. See the decision box below.
Hand-Carved Jharokha Mirror Ready now	₹11,900	Already one of our best-selling pieces. A beautiful housewarming or entryway gift — just needs Diwali-themed photos and posts.
Jaali Carved Wall Panel Ready now	₹10,400	Our most profitable item. Looks stunning on camera and works as wall décor or a room divider.
Lakshmi-Ganesha Pair Can be made	~₹9,000 - ₹9,900	Lakshmi-Ganesh idols are one of the most searched Diwali gifts in India. We already sell the Ganesha figure — we just need to make a matching Lakshmi.
Hoshiarpur Inlay Serving Tray Ready now	₹5,290	A premium gifting tray with brass inlay — stands out from the plain wooden trays everyone else sells.
Carved Door Toran with brass bells Can be made	₹1,499 - ₹1,999	Torans are one of the very first things people buy for Diwali — and almost everyone sells cloth or plastic ones. A hand-carved wooden toran is genuinely different, and right now we don't have one at all.
Premium Diwali Hamper Can be made	₹7,999 - ₹9,999	A gift box combining the inlay tray, the Lakshmi-Ganesha pair and a dry-fruit box. Perfect for corporate gifting, where people want something that feels special, not just another sweet box.

₹5,590

Carved Wooden Elephant Pair

Ready now

Already a best-seller, and elephants are already seen as a "good luck" gift — which fits Diwali perfectly, no extra work needed.

Hanging Jaali Tealight Lantern

₹899 - ₹1,299

Can be made

An elegant wooden alternative to the usual clay diya — lets us join in the "diya" buying trend without competing with every street stall.

Hoshiarpur Inlay Chess Set

₹7,290

Ready now

A lovely family gift for the long Diwali weekend when relatives gather — already in the shop, ready to sell.

The big decision: should we make the Mandir this year?

The carved mandir is the single best opportunity on this list — but it's risky to promise in just five weeks. Pick one of these three options this week:

- Go for it — start carving immediately and accept that it might run a little late.
- Play it safe — commit to only 2–3 mandirs, with a firm cut-off around 20 October so there's no last-minute rush.
- Skip it this year — focus marketing on the Jharokha Mirror instead, which is already made and ready to photograph today.

Things we are deliberately NOT making this Diwali

Plain clay diyas, rangoli stencils, anything electric or battery-powered, glass/ceramic puja items, large furniture like beds and sofas (too slow and too expensive to ship in time), and any brand-new toy designs (these need a safety check first that we can't finish before Diwali). None of these play to our strength as a wood-carving workshop, or they simply can't be ready in time.

SECTION 3

Gift Combos to Build

A combo is simply several products sold together at one price — it makes gifting easier for the customer and increases how much each order is worth. These combos use items we already sell, so most of them can be set up immediately.

Combo	What's inside	Price	Best for
Diwali Pooja Thali Set	A serving tray used as the thali + two spice/kumkum boxes	₹5,499	Families refreshing their puja corner — a low-priced way to try the brand
Housewarming Gift Box	Round mirror + wall shelf set + spice box	₹9,199	Gifting — "one beautiful thing to bring" instead of three separate gifts
Corporate Gifting Crate	Tray + cutting board + spice box + wall shelf	₹7,799	Offices and societies buying in bulk, with a GST bill
Mithai & Dry Fruit Tray Set	Two trays + a cutting board	₹4,299	A safe, familiar Diwali hosting gift — our best-margin combo
Festive Home Refresh	Round side table + round mirror + wall shelf set	₹11,699	People who want to freshen up a corner of their home for the festival
Return Gift Pack	10 spice boxes, sold as one bulk set	₹19,490 (~₹1,949 each)	Diwali parties, societies and offices needing many identical small gifts at once
Cook's Diwali Gift Set	Tray + cutting board + spice box	₹4,999	A simple, low-risk first purchase — and it qualifies for free delivery

Not ready yet: a "Mandir Corner" bundle and a "Diya & Toran" bundle were also planned, but the mandir doesn't exist yet (see the decision above) and the toran/lantern haven't been priced by the workshop. Don't advertise either combo until that's sorted.

SECTION 4

Discount Codes to Run

Code	What it does	When it runs
NAVRATRI26	5% off (up to ₹750) on orders over ₹4,999, on ready-made décor only — our early-bird offer for the Navratri "soft launch" window.	11 – 19 Oct
DHAN26	Same offer, re-badged for Dhanteras shopping energy.	20 – 28 Oct
DIWALI-FLASH	₹500 off orders over ₹6,999. Important: the number of times this can be used must match our real remaining stock — never advertise "only a few left" unless that's actually true.	24 – 28 Oct
CORP-[Company name]	8% off (up to ₹3,000) on orders over ₹10,000, for businesses buying in bulk. One code per company, not public.	6 Oct – 15 Nov
A friendly nudge code	₹300 off, sent automatically to anyone who asked for a quote but didn't buy, three days later.	Ongoing through 8 Nov

Also: our existing "WELCOME10" code should be switched off this week — it's priced too generously and would eat into the profit on several of these products.

SECTION 5

Who We're Selling To

Who	What they want	Where to reach them
Home-owners refreshing for Diwali Ages 27–45	Diwali is the one time of year Indian families redecorate on impulse. They want their home — and especially their puja corner — to look its best.	Instagram, Facebook ads, Pinterest
Personal gifters	Need something that feels thoughtful, not just another box of sweets.	Instagram, WhatsApp
Corporate & bulk gift buyers Office managers, HR teams, housing societies	Diwali is the one guaranteed corporate-gifting occasion every year in India. They care far more about a proper GST bill and a reliable single delivery date than about getting the cheapest price.	Direct phone/WhatsApp outreach to offices and societies — this is a genuine, low-cost opportunity worth pursuing directly, not just through ads
NRI gifting back to family in India	Want to send something meaningful to relatives for the festival without flying home.	Instagram, WhatsApp, word of mouth

SECTION 6

Budget — Three Simple Options

This covers the five-week push from now until Diwali. There is also a separate, one-time cost of roughly ₹1.1 lakh to build a small stock of ready-made pieces — that applies no matter which option below you choose.

Option	Total spend	What you get
Lean	~₹39,000	A cautious, mostly word-of-mouth push. Roughly 15 - 25 orders by Diwali.
Recommended — Base	~₹1.3 lakh	A proper push — social media ads, a few creators, reaching out to local offices and societies directly, better packaging for fragile festive items. Roughly 25 - 45 orders by Diwali.
Growth	~₹3.16 lakh	Not recommended yet. We can only prepare about 45 ready-made pieces for this window, so spending this much would mostly create a backlog and broken promises rather than more real sales — until the workshop confirms it can make more.

How to spend it (Base option)

Go slowly during Navratri (content and word of mouth only), then open the spending up from Dussehra (20 October) only once the few outstanding tasks below are actually done. If they're not done by 20 October, stay on the Lean budget and simply treat this window as building an audience for the wedding season that follows Diwali.

SECTION 7

What We Need From You This Week

Nothing else in this plan can move forward until these are sorted — most take a phone call or a short conversation, not weeks of work.

- ☐ Pick a budget — Lean, Base (recommended), or Growth.
- ☐ Confirm the cash available for building ready stock (~₹1.1 lakh) at the same time as the marketing spend above.
- ☐ Give us the real WhatsApp Business number, phone number and Instagram handle. Every advertisement, discount code and social post in this plan depends on these — this can be done today, it needs no technical work.
- ☐ Get written confirmation from the workshop: exactly how many ready-made pieces they can really finish by 28 October, and whether today's real material costs still leave a healthy profit on each item in this plan. Don't publish a delivery promise to customers until this is confirmed.
- ☐ Decide on the Mandir (see the decision box in Section 2) by 9-10 October at the latest.
- ☐ Confirm we can switch off the old "WELCOME10" discount code — a simple, low-risk clean-up that protects our margins either way.

SECTION 8

Risks to Keep an Eye On

Risk	What to do about it
We sell more than we can make	Never advertise beyond the number of ready-made pieces the workshop has actually confirmed. If orders get ahead of what can be built, pause the ads rather than take orders we can't fulfil.
Cash-on-delivery orders that never arrive back to us	Common during festive rushes. Consider asking for a small prepaid deposit on cash-on-delivery orders.
Couriers get slower closer to Diwali	This is an industry-wide problem every year, not something we can control — build the delivery cutoff dates with real buffer, not the fastest possible estimate.
Every other furniture brand is also running a Diwali sale	Don't try to win on discount alone — lead with what's genuinely ours: real hand-carving, made by our own workshop, honest pricing, and a delivery date we actually keep.
Cash gets tight	Building ready stock and spending on marketing happen at the same time — keep an eye on cash flow through the five weeks, not just at the end.
